NEW YORK, June 30.—The Democratic National Convention cast six ballots within six hours for the presidential nominee today and at the end of the sixth only two native sons had been eliminated from consideration as the convention proceeded apparently in a deadlock.

The remainder of the native sons held on grimly waiting for the break which was not in sight. Leaders stood: McAdoo 443 1-10, and Smith 261¼ at the end of the sixth ballot. McAdoo's total was the same as the fifth ballot while Smith gained a half vote. The convention let out a whoop of approval for Senator Walsh when Senator Harrison read a dispatch announcing the indictment of Sinclair, Fall and Doheny.

HAZARD MAN HELD, $5,000 BAIL

John Vermillion Arrested for Shooting of Chas. Lynch at Lotts Creek.

HAZARD, June 30.—John Vermillion has been held for appearance in the Perry county circuit court under bonds of $5,000 for the shooting of Charles Lynch at Lotts Creek. According to Vermillion's story, Lynch in company with Bert Lewis and George Lawson on two occasions made threats against his life while they were intoxicated; holding guns against his body and otherwise abusing him.

Vermillion further stated that Lynch's wife tried to get him to put up his gun and leave the defendant to go about his business but after the trio had drawn their guns a second time, he drew his own weapon and commenced firing. A general fusilade followed in which Lynch was shot in the back with a 38 special. He died in the Hazard hospital.

BEGIN WORK ON RAILROAD LINK

Survey Started Which Will Connect Two Lines and Open New Fields.

Associated Press.

WHITESBURG, Ky., June 30.—It is announced here that the survey of the new connecting link of the L. & N. between McRoberts, the eastern terminus of the L. & N. and Elkhorn City, has been started and that rush work will characterize the engineering. This is the important connection of the L. & N. with the Clinchfield line which was delayed on account of the hearing of the Interstate Commerce commission about a year ago.

It will mean the opening of a vast coal field—the Elk Horn-Hazard with the Atlantic sea coast and southeastern cities—an indomitable market for the coals of the two important fields—giving a direct connection with the seaboard which has long been the dream of capitalists and coal operators. It is expected that the actual construction of the connection will be started at once.

Rush work will also characterize its construction.

HEAVY RAINS RETARDING FARM WORK

Crop Outcome Constitute Chief Factor Business Decline

FARM LABOR PLENTY

May Business on Rail Roads In Eighth District Show Gain Over Year 1922.

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, June 30.—Unseasonable weather and uncertainty of crop outcome constitute the chief factors in the present decline of business activity in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, says the June review made public last night byW. McC. Martin, chairman of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank Board.

Unusually heavy rains have retarded the farmers' spring work, the report continues, and thus the usual stimulation to business felt at the approach of early harvest is lacking. Farmers have been unable to get into their fields to cultivate crops, and growth and development of the principal products are from one to four weeks late. Extensive replanting of cotton, corn and some other crops has been necessary, and in some sections the seed has not been put in at all, due to the soggy and unworkable condition of the soil.

Farm supplies and merchandise generally for distribution in rural district, the report points out, are moving slowly.

The labor situation in the district is reported generally less favorable at present than during the preceding month, due principally to the curtailment of operations by the packing, iron and steel and milling industries. Farm labor has become plentiful because of the lateness of crops. A slight increase of unemployment is noted in the large cities, due to reduced industrial operations, and additional idle workers are reported in the coal, lead and zinc mining districts.

Discussing the continued dullness in coal mining, the report says:

"Except for a slight improvement in sentiment, based on gradually dwindling reserves of numerous important industries, the coal situation underwent no change from the recent dull conditions. There was a further decline in production, accounted for in the main by lack of orders received at the mines.

"The revival in purchasing looked for about June 1 failed to materalize and consumers, both large and small, have not deviated to any appreciable extent from the policy of hand to mouth buying. Slackened industrial activity is reflected in reduced consumption of steaming coal, and operators continue to comment upon the inroads made in their business by fuel oil and electric power competition. The trend of prices continued downward until June 1 when circular quotations were advanced by many of the companies and most of the leading independent producers from 10c to 20c per ton.

As compared with the corresponding period last year, traffic of railroads operating in the Eighth district again showed a rather sharp decline, but the May business was well in excess of that of the same month in 1922, with one large Southwestern system showing the heaviest May traffic in its history.

Tonnage moved by the Mississippi River section of the Federal barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans amounted to 68,000 tons during May, against 81,538 tons in April and 77,552 tons in May, 1923.

The value of building permits issued in the five largest cities of the district during May fell sharply below the record total of April, but was only 3.8 per cent under the aggregate of May, 1923. Building operations in the larger centers continued at an active pace in June, with residential construction still occupying an important place in the general activity.

Generally abundant funds and a lower trend in interest rates, coupled with a slackening in the demand for credit from commercial and industrial sources, featured the banking and financial situation in the district the last thirty days. Commercial banks, particularly in the large cities, report liquidation of loans in good volue. Collections made a good showing.

WEST END ACTION AGAIN DEFERRED

New Concrete Block to Be Opened for July 4—Commissioner Cooke Resigns.

Action on the propoition of accepting the newly paved section of West Cumberland and Petersboro avenue was again deferred at the commissioners' meeting this morning. The question, they stated will be settled at a special meeting Saturday morning.

Mayor J. H. Keeney stated that the property owners along the newly paved block on Cumberland avenue between Eighteenth street and Fitzpatrick avenue had agreed to opening it for the public Friday morning, July 4, one day earlier than expiration of the twenty-one days period required by the state. It was stated that the concrete will be in condition for use by that time.

Resignation of Charles E. Cooke was accepted. It reads as follows: "I hereby tender my resignation as city commissioner of the city of Middlesboro to take effect at midnight Jun e0. I appreciate the high honor conferred upon me by the citizens of Middlesboro and regret very much to do this but, as I am leaving the city, I cannot attend to the duties of the office after this date. I have done the best I could." The mayor thanked Mr. Cooke for the interest he has shown in his work as commissioner.

A communication from the state actuarial bureau was read. It stated that Middlesboro had been inspected with a view to putting it into a lower fire insurance rate classification but that it is hardly likely that such can be done now. The writer stated, however, that he would be glad to consider it again since improvements have been made.

YOUTH VICTIM OF MINING CAR

Playing Around Tipple at Fork Ridge Fatal to Hugh Moyers of Claiborne.

Hugh Moyers, 15, was killed by the mining cars on the tipple of the Fork Ridge mines Friday afternoon. Officials of the mine report that the boy boarded the moving cars without the knowledge of the mine employes and was crushed, presumably between two cars.

The boy had been visiting relatives in the vicinity of Fork Ridge and was not in any way connected with the mines. There seem to have been no witnesses to the accident. The body was brought to a local undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

The remains were shipped to Speedwell, Tenn., yesterday to Harrison Moyers, uncle of the deceased and interment took place in the family cemetery there.

World Ore Resources Menaced by Corrosion

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Battling rust and corrosion costs approximately two and a half billion dolnrs a year, according to W. J. Overbeck, superintendent of the DuPont Company of Chicago.

"This sum spent annually to counteract the ravages of corrosion and rust will give a fair idea of the total bil the world is paying for the slow decay of metals used in industrial work, which are not protected against them," he declared. "It is a vital matter because the yearly waste is making theiron ore resources of the world exhaustible within a measurable distance of time."

Pennies Melted For Copper They Contain

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—After circulating, many of them for more than a century, in the Dutch East Indies, 233 tons of copper coins were unloaded here recently on their way to a smelting plant in New Jersey. Many bore the date of 1790; others were worn so smooth that their age could not be determined.

These symbols of the trade of a corner of the world that readers of English associate chiefly with the novels of Joseph Conrad soon will be transmuted into just copper, practically pure copper, however, worth about $250 a ton.

The coins were collected by the Dutch Government ten years ago when the old issues were recalled and replaced with new.

Phillippine Highway Starting Emigration

By Associated Press.

MANILA, June 0.—The days of the prarie schooner in the United States have been recalled by the constant stream of Filipino emibrants now moving across the newly constructed highway from the west coast provinces of Luzon into the fertile Cagayan Valley, on the Pacific coast side, noted for its production of tobacco.

Until recently the Cagayan Valley was virtually inaccessible, except by a circuitous water route and a narrow trail over which pack horses travelled with great difficulty. The completion of a good wagon highway across the mountain range has started the emigrants, especially from the Illocos provinces which are thickly populated, to seek the more ftrtile lands in the Cagayan. Dozens of "prairie schooners" drawn by caribao or Indian cattle can be seen daily journeying across the divide, each wagon being accompanied by from five to ten people.

ZIONISTS MEET AT PITTSBURGH

700 Delegates Present at Meeting — Palestine Budget Question Discussed.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, June 30.—With 700 delegates from all over the United States in attendance, the 27th annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America, the largest gathering ever held in the history of the movement, opened here yesterday at the William Penn Hotel, with Louis Lipsky, National Chairman of the organization, presiding. The convention closes Tuesday night.

Interest in the convention centers in the proposals to remove the World Zionist headquarters from London to Jerusalem, which Mr. Lipsky has urged since his recent return from London where he served as a member of the World Zionist executive.

Other important subjects upon which action will be taken by the convention are: "Coordination of the work of all fund-raising organizations for the rebuilding of Palestine, of which the Zionist Organization is the parent body, in order to eliminate duplication of effort and provide a large central bureau to handle all matters pertaining to the reconstruction of the Jewish National Homeland.

Non-Zionist participation in the Jewish Agency for the upbuilding of Palestine, recently advocated by a group of leading American Jews, headed by Louis Marshal of New York, President of the American Jewish committee.

Proposals for the regulation of the Palestine budget with particular emphasis upon an extension of the colonization work, which draws its support largely from the contributions made by the Jews of America through the Palestine Foundation Fund, the principal financial instrument of the Zionist Organization.

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Graduates of New York City high schools throughout the United States are being considered for the first award of the Alfred C. Public officials, leaders in welfare movements, soldiers, military aviators, actors and actresses are among those whose names have been forwarded to the committee.

The gold medallion is similar in design to the Bossom silver medal, which for the last two years has been given to undergraduates of the New York City high schools who have distinguished themselves in the practical application of their studies of government in terms of service.

Candidates for the gold medallion, which will be formally awarded next fall, may live in any part of the country.

The committee which will make the award, realizing that within a few years the boys and girls of today will hold the reins of government throughout the world, seeks in this way to develop the power and ability of the younger generation for [illegible] government.

May Erect Golf Club House at Whittles

KNOXVILLE, June 30.—The Whittle Golf club may erect a fine clubhouse and recreation hall on its property adjacent to the Whittle Springs hotel holdings, it was learned Saturday from reliable sources. A meeting is to be held Tuesday night by members of the club for the purpose of putting the plan to vote.

Plans for the proposed clubhouse call for an expenditure of between $12,000 and $16,000. The building to be complete in every detail with locker rooms, reception hall, and possibly bowling alleys, it was said.

The proposed clubhouse has been prompted by bankruptcy proceedings taken by S. R. Rambo and S. R. Rambo and company, formerly connected with the Whittle Springs hotel property. A part of which is at present used as the club and locker rooms of the Whittle golf club. The hotel property is still in the hands of receivers and is to be sold, providing a suitable bid is made.

Wrong Route Results In Misnaming a Town

By Associated Press.

SEATTLE, June 30.—The founding of Fairbanks, Alaska, in 1902, was due to a mistake in taking a water route by Captain John Barnette, according to relatives here.

Captain Barnette sailed up the Yukon river to investigate the Tanana river. Furnished with some of the inaccurate maps of the period, he mistook the Chena Slough for the Tanana river and sailed to the present site of Fairbanks before discovering his error. He was forced to discharge the greater part of his cargo of trade goods to lighten the boat in maneuvering it back to the main stream. When he discovered the possibilities of the place, he built a log store.

GAS TRUST IN LIMBO

President Coolidge has handed the gasoline trust a body blow by directing the Attorney General to bring action against many of the large oil companies who, according to the investigating body, have been parties to a gasoline "combination, conspiracy and monopoly" organized for the purpose of keeping the price of gasoline at a figure far too high.

This action on the part of the president is considered one of the most sweeping anti-trust moves that has been made for years and is one that all automobilists will heartily endorse. Drivers of cars, no matter whether owners of twin sixes or lief if the courts buck up the presihumble flivvers, will be afforded relent. It was learned today that Mr. Coolidge shortly after he took office as president ordered a searching investigation of the gasoline trust; he watched the proceedings carefully and as soon as sufficient evidence was collected directed Attorney General Stone to draw up the necessary papers. Action is also directed against a number of "secondary defendants" who, it is claimed, were in the combination to keep the price of gasoline at a high figure. These secondary companies are charged with accepting licenses from the primary defendants, this action being taken to safeguard the suit.

This suit is of even greater magnitude than the "trust-busing" actions taken by the late Theodore Roosevelt, who in one of his drives against combinations in restraint of trade directed action against the Standard Oil company alone. The action now takes contemplates restricted measures applicable to all the great oil producing companies in the country.

The petition in equity was filed by Edwin A. Olson, United States attorney for the northern district of Illinois, representing the attorney general.

This action on the part of President Coolidge further demonstrates his courage and his determination to see that the people of the country will have their interests protected no matter who he offender may be. Coolidge is determined that every citizen shall have a square deal.

WOMEN'S INFLUENCE IN POLITICS

At no time in the history of the United States or of the world for that matter, has the influence of women in politics been as great as it is today. Only that person who has been admitted into the inner councils of the two national parties which have recently deliberated platform pledges, and has studied secretly the tactics of the campaign about to be waged for the election of a President and Vice-President, could disclose the true measure of the influence of the women voters of the United States. It has been an open secret, of course, that both the Democrats and the Republicans have, at least nominaly, accorded to the leading women of their parties a place in their conventions and in their deliberative councils. This fact has been freely advertised, as the veteran party managers and dictators intended it should be.

But between nominal and polite recognition and the recogtinion of actual power and influence in shaping ad deing party issues and naming candidates there is a wide and deep gulf. How powerful and influential have the Americn women actualy been in this respect? The inclination is to believe thta they have wielded, unassumingly and without show or pretense, a really great influence. They have accomplished this as much, however, by the potential strength which they possess and are ready to exert, as by open participation in the discussion of issues and men. So far as they have agreed among themselves: their demand for the enactment of progressive laws, for needed reforms in the administration and enforcement of existing laws, and for remedial legislation in their own and their children's behalf, has been listened to and generally heeded.

The woman in politics has advanced beyond the white ribbon and pink tea state of activity to the sterner and more vital work which she has [illegible] to do. She has become convinced of her right to have a part in every state and national movement. In recognizing [illegible] has gained the impression [illegible] and those who have [illegible] making and administering the laws for her. Perhaps those inquisitive gentlemen are endeavoring to discover just how insistent and skillful she will be in asserting and gaining her conceded rights. It is not too early to disabuse the minds of any who have hoped that the extension of the franchise to the women of the United States would simply double the totals of the usual party vote. Nothing of the kind has resulted, apparently, and indications seem to be more and more in the direction of absolute political independence on the part of the women.

Now with the realization impressed that the newly enfranchised voters actually make up a vast floating or unascertained balance of political power, it naturally follows that any reasonable concession or consideration will be extended in an effort to attract and hold that controlling strength.—Christian Science Monitor.

REGARDING PRESENT DAY YOUTH

In Harlan as far back as one can remember the young people of the town have combined themselves into "a crowd" which is commoner known as the "younger set." This is not uncommon as such a thing is done in nearly every town where there are a number of young boys and girls who desire social activities and a good time. But the "crowd" of 1924 in Harlan, is in many ways different from the crowd that was known in Harlan four or five years ago. Harlan has kept in swing with the times, and her younger set is indeed of the 1924 model. Five years ago, if the younger boys and girls attended a dance unchaperoned or in many cases even attended a public dance, they were looked upon as unfit for the association of the crowd. They were ostracized. Today at the public dances in Harlan, regardless of where they are held, one can find a great number of the boys and girls there who are of high school age, and who as one looks have little regard for decency and respect. They have become unhampered, and they have become free to do as they desire. Surely if the parents of these young members of the social set would attend several of the affairs that they let their daughters and sons attend, they would learn that in five years even in Harlan there has been a great change in the social activities of the younger set.—Harlan American.

Claiborne Farmers Harvesting Wheat

The wheat crop throughout this section is ripening and in some localities the farmers are harvesting their crops. The crop at first was thought to be of very poor quality, has developed into good crop and much of it gives promise of a good crop above the average. The corn crop is good with about the average acreage devoted to the culture of the crop. The potato crop is fine and most of the farmers have finished the cultivation of the early potato crop.—Cumberland Gap News.

Property Soars On Hope L. & N. Link

WHITESBURG, June 28.—Prospects of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad constructing yards and terminals near this city and belief that the long-hoped-for link with the "Clinchfield" from McRoberts to Elkhorn City, will materialize, has caused a boom of property values in and near Whitesburg. Real estate deals are being made as fast as oil leases are swapped in an oil boom town. Offers up to $200 a front foot have been made for property facing Main street here. All along the line from here to McRoberts, property values daily are soaring higher.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

NEW YORK, June 30.—New York is having forced home on its consciousness the fact that the fighting farmers of the west and middle west mean business.

Above all the din and clamor of klan and anti-klan, wet and dry, league and anti-league factions attending the early days of the Democratic convention, the one clear, steady, constant call comes from delegates representing the great agricultural states for a platform and a ticket that will win the confidence and support of the men who produce bread and butter that the nation may eat.

While the Smith and McAdoo forces battle to emphasize or subordinate the klan and prohibition issues to suit their own situations, an increasing body of delegates are wondering how these can be handled to satisfy the country's demand for economic relief. And it is on the outlook for economic assistance, particularly to agriculture, that the hope of the Democrats in the coming campaign admittedly rests.

In this situation, pending the breakdown of the McAdoo-Smith deadlock, delegates are turning more and more to a consideration of what candidates can satisfy this need.

Among the "dark horse" possibilities for the top of the ticket, the quest is for a man who at least understands and appreciates the problems of the farmer and who might be expected to give it consideration at least equal to that given manufacturing and merchandising.

Of the three leading figures in the "dark horse" group—Ralston, Glass and John W. Davis—Ralston and Glass find most favor with the farm contingent.

Both have had direct and intimate touch with farm life and farm problems. Davis is not so well known west of the Alleghenies and sentiment concerning him is not so well crystalized. Davis sentiment, however, has been steadily developing and the West Virginia lawyer must be taken into serious account in any reshuffling of ballots following a deadlock.

The five names with which the agricultural delegates are chiefly concerned, however, are:

David F. Houston, former secretary of agriculture.

Edwin T. Meredith, also ex-secretary of agriculture.

Carl S. Vrooman, farmer and former assistant secretary of agriculture, who operates large farms in the Illinois corn belt.

Jonathan M. Davis, "dirt-farmer" governor of Kansas.

Charles Bryan, governor of Nebraska and brother of William J.

Of this group Houston seems likely to develop greatest strength as a possibility for the presidential nomination, should a protracted deadlock develop. He can win a large following outside the farm groups. He carries the aura of having been one of Woodrow Wilson's trusted advisers and can hold much of the Wilson strength. Also, he is well known in eastern financial and business interests and would be much more satisfactory to them than a man whom they had had less opportunity to gauge. He is, of this list, the only one likely to be seriously considered in the showdown for the top of the ticket.

The other four, while being boosted by small groups as presidential possibilities, are really being pockeyed for second position on the ticket. Anyone of this quartet, their backers believe, would be far more appealing to the sons of the soil than is Charles G. Dawes, the Chicago banker running mate of President Coolidge.

Over the convention, too, as an additional reason for taking definite steps to placate agricultural discontent, looms the La Follette conference in Cleveland which will follow this convention.

...ing forever your eyesight, or that of ...someone else.

This is the warning issued here today by the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness. Although great progress has been made in the movement for safe and sane celebration of Independence Day the committee says the Fourth of July is followed each year by a flood of reports of accidents to little boys and girls which, in many cases, blind them and in most others so seriously impair their vision that they are handicapped for life.

Injuries to the eyes from the use of fireworks and firearms are not, however, confined to Independence Day celebrations. The committee has within recent months received reports of serious injuries to the eyes of 224 children through the use of fireworks and firearms since the Fourth of July of last year. In 79 of these cases the children had been shot in the eye with an air rifle; the eyes of 70 children were seriously injured by other firearms; in 41 cases the eyes of a child were seriously injured by the explosion of so-called "dynamite caps," commonly used as ammunition for "dynamite canes;" the eyes of 21 children were injured by premature blasts of explosives, and 13 by display fireworks.

The committee found that while eye accidents of this type are recurring throughout the year, there is a sharp and sudden rise in their frequency during the first week of July and immediately following Christmas, due to the use of fireworks in Christmas celebrations, particularly in the south, and to the popularity of the air rifle as a Christmas gift for boys.

...ual activity at the Halemaumau firepit of the Kilauea volcano.

Science in the person of Roy Finch, temporarily in charge of the volcano observatory at Kilauea, advances the theory that tons of rock, avalanched down from the sides of the crater, have choked the vent through which Mother Nature usually eases the pressure on the earth by pouring forth surplus lava into the great pit, raising the lake in the crater and withdrawing the fiery substance from the crater when pressure has been more than relieved.

But the Hawaiians have returned to history and tradition to the act of the brave Kapiolani, the Christian princess who dared the wrath of Pele, the fire goddess, exactly 100 years ago. They say that Pele waited a century to become "huhu," or angry, with the people of the princess and to vent her wrath for Kapiolani's impious act.

...her people. She journeyed from Hilo to Kilauea and spent the night in a hut on the brink of Halemaumau. She ate of the "ohu," or forbidden berries, which were consecrated to Pele, an act of insult to the goddess. She stood on the brink of the crater with its ever-active lava lake below, and cried to Pele: "Jehovah is most powerful. Jehovah is my God. I defy thee, Pele."

Hawaiians stood in awe while she spoke. Pele, they said, would surely rise in her wrath, make the earth tremble and cast forth the seething lava of her lake, as she did in 1790 when the army of the high chief Keoua was annihilated. But nothing happened.

Kapiolani had won a great moral victory, but today the Hawaiians shake their heads, some of them saying that Pie merely waited 100 years to open her campaign of vengeance.

Sues Man Who Said She Killed Husband

HARLAN, June 30.—Alleging that the defendant spoke words implying that she had killed her husband, Rosa B. Havas, widow of the prominent Pee-Vee merchant who recently shot himself, has brought suit against Steve Keliman for $10,000.

The death of Mr. Havas was a mystery and it was first reported that his wife had shot him. It has been definitely found, however, that the merchant took his own life. Insanity is thought to have been the cause.

Mrs. Havas claims she has been damaged $10,000 and is suing for that amount. Defendant declares he did not utter words imputing that Mrs. Havas was responsible for her husband's death.

Recently 46 men of the regiment went to the rifle range at Fort Barry with automatic rifles. The qualification of "expert rifleman," the highest grade awarded for marksmanship, was given to 44 and the other two won the rank of "sharpshooter," the next highest grade. WIFE FLAPPER IS BANNED BY COURT

Upholds Husband's Objection to Wife Curling Hair—Duty of Wife Is to Obey.

Associated Press.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 30.—The age-old marriage vow containing the word "obey," last tenth toward obsolescence, was given an interpretation with "teeth" by the Alabama court of appeals when it upheld, in effect, the right of a husband to object to his wife's employment or adventitious aids to her supposedly natural beauty.

It is the imperative duty of a man's wife to obey, the court held. The wife in question had curled her hair against the expressed wish of her husband.

In rendering the opinion, the court also decided it not only was the right but the duty of the husband, in absence of proof of bad character, to fix the domicile of his children, irrespective of the mother's wishes. The ruling was made in reversing a lower court which had issued a writ of habeas corpus to Mrs. Macon Sparkman to recover custody of her daughter.

Following domestic incompatibility as a result of his wife's curled hair, it was said, Mrs. Sparkman left her husband, taking the child. After Sparkman recovered the daughter and placed her in his mother's home. Mr. Sparkman filed petition for a writ of habeas corpus and the lower court ordered Sparkman to produce the child. This order met reversal in the appellate tribunal.

WORK TRAINING FOR MARRIAGE

Wage Earning Declared Essential to Happy Marriage—Favors Girls Working.

By Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal., June 30.—The best training for matrimony a girl can get is by procuring employment for a while, in the opinion of Miss Cleo Murtland, associate professor of vocational education at the University of California.

"As an apprenticeship for marriage," said Miss Murtland, "wage earning is an essential feature. Economic freedom of women is a determining factor in the length of the pre-marriage period, in the stability of the home and in its maintenance. The self-respect of a woman, as well as her position in the family, is determined in part by her ability to be economically independent. More and more the daughter, as well as the son, seeks employment as soon as school days are over."

Miss Murtland classified as the three distinct phases in a woman's development the time preceding marriage, the time of family responsibilities, and the time of middle age when she is released from these responsibilities.

She explained her views at a recent conference of educators. It was the conclusion of the conference that a girl should be educated both as a homemaker and as a potential wage-earner.

Gouverneur Morris' Picture at Manring

"You Can't Get Away With It," adapted from Gouverneur Morris' classic short story, will be at the Manring theatre tomorrow night. The writer formerly lived at Big Stone Gap Va., and is well known in this section as he is throughout the country. Readers of the Cosmopolitan magazine know the excellent quality of the stories by Mr. Morris.

Gouverneur Morris wrote a yarn from lie's pot pourri when he typed "You can Get Away Wit it" that struck a responsive chord in the lives of millions of girls. William Fox has taken the story as the basis for a picture which he hopes will have an even greater effect. In order to realize this hope, he has selected Percy Marmont, who played the Mark Sabre role in "If Winter Comes," to interpret the male lead in the new picture. Betty Bouton plays the part of the girl.

The story concerns a wealthy girl, untrained for anything other than the ball room, who finds it necessary to earn a living. She tries, but her earlier life has unfitted her for the part. So, when her employer, wealthy, unhappily married and love hungry, offers her luxury (without respectability, she defies conventions and eccepts.

The world that has condoned her, or ignored her, during now condemns her and she learns that "You Can't Get Away With It." How this is brought about is a story which makes a remarkable picture and William Fox has done wonders with it, according to advance notices. The picture was directed by Rowland V. Lee from a scenario by Robert N. Lee.

Others in the cast with Marmont and Betty Bouton are Malcolm McGregor, Barbara Tenant, Grace Morse, Clarissi Selwyn and Charles Cruz.

BAN EMPLOYMENT YOUNG BARMAIDS

New Bill Less Rigid Than Expected—Regulates Laws for Opening and Closing.

Asociated Press.

DUBLIN, June 30.—The text of the Free State Government's legislation for reform of the drink traffic, recently issued, is less drastic than was expected. A uniform hour of opening and closing for the sale of drink all over the Free State is adopted. Thirteen hours opening daily, from 9 a. m. till 10 p. m. are provided, with half an hour earlier closing on Saturdays. This is opposed by the licensed trade on the ground that 9 o'clock is too late to open, and that farmers and laborers, whose markets are often in the early hours of the morning, require refreshments.

The main provision is that which abolishes mixed trading, and requires that a drink shop shall sell nothing but drink, unless food is consumed with it on the premises when food may be sold with it. But food may not be sold across the counter as at present. The great proportion of country shops that sell drink, and there are 15,000 altogether in the Free State, are general stores, and sell everything. In future they must abandon the sale of liquor and, according to the licensed trade, the necessary structural alterations would cost over $20,000,000.

The bill especially aims at the traffic in poteen. Until now offenders escaped with fines, and as the trade is highly profitable the fine was no deterrent and was really passed on to the thirsty customers. In future the penalty is to be imprisonment. The trade in ingredients is to be checked by the provision that any material capable of being distilled into poteen can only be obtained, even by those intending to use it for other purposes, through the police.

In future the time-honored practice of chalking up the drink score will disappear, for purchases of liquor must be cash transactions. Nobody under 18 can be served with drink at all, and there must be no young barmaids.

Standard gold contains 22 carats of fine gold and two carats of alloy.
